

Great Oaks Public Safety Services Advanced Police Training Courses

Course Title: Ohio Public Records Laws For Police Agency Leaders & Municipal Employees

Presented by: Mark Weaver, Esq., Communications Counsel

Course Description: Mark Weaver, a former Ohio Assistant Attorney General and expert in Ohio's public records laws, will present the basics of Ohio Public Records laws for police agency leaders and clerical personnel. Mark will cover Ohio's Public Records laws and go through recent court rulings as well as details about new laws that completely change the law surrounding privacy, sealed records and body/cruiser cameras. Mark will also cover some of the legal and practical concerns for keeping these records in 2020 and beyond. For example, if your initial incident report and your full investigative report are within the same computer program, does that mean you've got to give a newspaper a copy of everything if they ask for it? This course is designed for all levels of the police organization and is useful for other levels of municipal government seeking a better understanding of Ohio's Public Records Laws. Most importantly, despite listening to a lawyer talk for several hours, this class will NOT be boring!
